

iManage Classify for Attorney Client Privilege

BENEFITS

- Radical reduction time to review material
- Increase in accuracy

The most common Attorney Client Privilege review process, which involves keyword searches agreed between both parties in order to identify which material should undergo LPP review, is an extremely inefficient solution so firms are looking towards Artificial Intelligence to streamline this process.

Identifying Attorney Client Privilege information

The manual process of using keyword searches to identify criteria for Attorney Client Privilege review was inefficient. The default behavior fell on the side of caution with extremely far reaching criteria. Today, with the exponential data growth this process is no longer sustainable.

Automating this process is becoming an increasingly attractive option for operations and legal departments to meet their regulatory demands.

iManage Classify for Attorney Client Privilege

iManage Classify for Attorney Client Privilege review exploits supervised iterative Machine Learning models inside the iManage RAVN platform, meaning the Robot will become more accurate over time. It is a technological leap from legacy predictive coding methods that sometimes are used today. The certainty levels over classification accuracy can be adjusted to desired levels of recall to alleviate any misclassification concerns.
