

iManage Honored as ILTA's 2017 Innovative Solution Provider of the Year

Transforming the way companies find, extract and act on key information from documents and emails

CHICAGO – August 16, 2017 – iManage, the company dedicated to transforming how professionals work, announced it was named as the International Legal Technology Association's (ILTA) Innovative Solution Provider of the Year last night at ILTA's Annual Distinguished Peer Awards dinner at ILTACON 2017 in Las Vegas, Nev.

The Innovative Solution Provider of the Year winners are selected by showing the greatest foresight in development of an innovative technology or process of services used to implement technology in the legal environment. And iManage came up to the top of the list with its launch of iManage Work 10, the industry's leading email and document management application, empowering professionals to create, manage and collaborate on all work product from anywhere on any device in a single user experience, turning lost time into productive time.

"iManage has been an active member of ILTA for over 20 years facilitating both peer networking and education to drive our support of the organization," said Dean Leung, Chief Customer Success Officer, iManage. "Today's legal professionals demand easy-to-use, productivity-enhancing tools that support new ways of working. We designed a totally new user experience from the ground up to work the way legal professionals want to work – a real game changer for work product management – and we are honored to be awarded the Innovative Solution Provider of the Year."

What makes iManage Work 10 unique are the built in "smart" features such as personalized search, document timelines and intelligent worklists that enable modern professionals to work the way they want to work. The smart features use elements of AI, machine learning and big data analysis to anticipate the users' needs and enable them to work more intuitively and efficiently to deliver the best client work.
